

ions 103 to 114; Reed & Taylor, of St. Louis, Sections 115 to 129; Hastings & Co., of Kokomo, Ind., Sections 127 to 131; & Co., of New Jersey, Sections 131 to 144; J. C. Lee, of Kokomo, Ind., Seccity-five car-loads of flour, for Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul, forward from the city to the latter at 11 o'clock last evening by train. Detroit Saturday morning it will go forward over the river and New York, and the train to arrive in New city evening.

SILVER.

It Should Immediately Ad- vance in Value.

CINCINNATI, May 17.—The Bulletin this morning follows in its communica-

"There are certain elements that the market for the return of June, and that therefore the Treasury must least $2,000,000, and perhaps $4,000,- silver per month for an indefinite time will be in the market, and that a portion of the $1,500,000 in silver of that loan. This is really reduced to the available supply of the Consolidated Virginia was affected about two weeks ago,

I have an important bearing on the return of John that the California and Oregon

silver mines will not probably yield a pound of fine silver per month

as the miners demand.

It is now to the

the Justice is now the only miner and the mine that is producing of the amount is not yielding a cent.

At the same

gold price it would be to the use, owing to the excessive on the whole, apart from any of England, the political comin a much better shape than it has upwards of two years."

CURRENT OPINION.

Conkling will take no further no-

Mines' publications.

"Your state-

and the dignified orator who was concerned in this case will meet them with

"New York," "Lancaster," administration certainly does not and enjoys the confidence of the country, well-meaning, but also, well-doing, who are its most conspicuous Republicans have lost strength in their own opinion of the value of their own party (Rep.).

imposition of the income tax is the ground that the tobacco used to such an extent as to make a difference in the revenue.

That is to say, a an income of $2,000 will be required

a year so that another man can buy five pack robes for four cents and a pipe on his cigar." Philadelphia newspaper, alluding to Ben But-language in the House of Representatives, "never act in the Convention, never vote, never be seen in the house of representatives, never be seen in the Senate, never be seen in the House of Representatives, never be seen in the Senate, never be seen in the

the aisle, with smiles of recognition on his face. "How do you like your seat in New York?" Prof. Blaine had quietly passed by, and that they had cut out the Judge, and individual members of Congress were a blank slate from the time he went into the Senate, and remained his satellites completely devoid of revenge of this sort, and yet he is, of course, not greatly increased.

subtler things. The cities of the world are clamoring for the salvation of the dollar, and the people have no means to know that 100 cents in gold are receiving dollars; in paying out, however, the speculators, bankers, loaned bondholders, and others, are willing to use as much silver as they can. What would the speculators say if they knew that they may pay in silver? At present they are contenting themselves with the revenue of this sort, and the rest of the others. —Providence (R. I.)

ness of living trash that the people of the West declined to take under silver dollar for which they once as fast as those dollars have been offered in exchange for greenbacks have taken them. Everybody on perfectly equal terms with the base for 100 cents on the dollar.

The gold-bug organ of old New York is still antipathetic when they speak of reparation, yet unable to tell the truth. They made a big grab at the proslavery clauses, to whom they had, depredated notes, and from whom paid in artificially dear that dishonest, rapacious, ungodly was defeated; hence the grosses and the disappointed Shylocks.

There was no shenanigan in this investigation business. Democratic election frauds in Mississippi, and Tilden's bribery in Oregon, must be included. If the Democrats resist because they fear being covered with disgrace, they had better let their branch of the investigation drop.

The Orangemen of Montreal have resolved to add another chapter to their history with will in solemn procession. The Coronation will be held in hand and about the church, and her sister, and his mother.

At this testimony Vosburgh in his mother bailed him out, and his mother bailed him out, and then spoke of reparation, yet unable to tell the truth. They made a big grab at the proslavery clauses, to whom they had, depredated notes, and from whom paid in artificially dear that dishonest, rapacious, ungodly was defeated; hence the grosses and the disappointed Shylocks.

The true inwardness of the Democratic gerrymander in Ohio is about this—the Democrats want to make sure of the one vote which Ohio's delegation in the House will cast for President if there should be no choice by the Electoral College in 1880, regardless of the popular sentiment of the State.

There is no shenanigan in this investigation business. Democratic election frauds in Mississippi, and Tilden's bribery in Oregon, must be included. If the Democrats resist because they fear being covered with disgrace, they had better let their branch of the investigation drop.

The composition of the Republican Congressmen is to an investigation of alleged Florida election frauds, but to a one-sided investigation which runs out Democratic bribery in Oregon and Democratic bulldozing in Mississippi.

The newly-elected Ministers of Quebec, having pledged to a policy of economy, begin by cutting down their own salaries, as instances of official virtue so rare as to be worth recording.

On all fours; a lead that had carbonized. In another case, it was a leaden hand, the master used to lead his line into Spain where an eligible. There are schools kept in wine-stations, dancing-rooms, under a shroud, a lead held there for a kitchen. In one case the school-life was never seen in the sole apartment and dwelling; in another occupied part of the apartment, grandiose nation wonders why Germany.

of the continual boast of the Democrat committee that they were of finding something terrible Republicans, the New York Tribune.

feature about it is the manipulation of Mr. Forster and his party to get the Pope to issue a bull against the betting men call "A dead sure they have got some 'sure things'."

Mr. Moody, having some moments to spare leaving New Haven, exhorted the hackmen in the city, without leading any of them astray.

How many times has the dear Glover shouted "Stand from under?"

and a Democrat home limping? And parties have gone out with "Stand from under?"

now to come skurrying back into camp again?" hunting them. No party ever had such unconsciously bad them into camp. Bear-hunters are in regularly just ahead of the bear.

such popular heart is being fired worse now that it begins to look as if a portion of the Eastern question might catch up with it. "Hearts of Oak" and "The British Army," "The British Army," and "India" are the latest additions to useful literature, with a remarkable horn which has, at least, one thing to—it is likely to drive to oblivion equally idiotic "We Don't Want to This production, which is almost bad for $200 a line if it were signed.

TENNYSON's poem follows:

"My Master My Man,"

for her baritic degrad;

going, her jingle along,

and be link'd to a "hairy chine."

and delight in trick and chican,

arrogance rule by the knout,

and come,

better to govern without,

better to govern without.

world's what parrot a wife,

and the parrot there be;

Chinese may wed as they please,

hypocrite Russia for me—

the Russian for my—

the Duchess of EDINBURG.

Democrats have undertaken the role of the side of the fraud business shall be

they about in chairs. Tilden's

to buy an Elector in Oregon must not

into. The frauds and violence per-

in Mississippi, whereby the

of 25,000 was wiped out and had

no Democratic frauds or malfeas-tions touched. Does not know suppose

we will stand this one-sided sort of

be unable to "Reduce the Army to 50,000" the has come out without

"Abolish the Navy." Another

other now called contemporary

"Shoot the Custom-House!"

to the Fourth-Auditor's Office?" To

the Supervisors of Steamboats"

the Marine Band!" "Cusa the Depart-

and so on.

GARFIELD moved an amendment

to his resolution to include all the frauds

without regard to party,—mean-

and Mississipp.—Forrester jumped

at the top of his voice:

We want to investigate Republican Demagogues. What

wants to be done enough as they want to be done enough as they

the air of the atmosphere?" Great the Democratics, and joyous temperit! In infidelity, the Temporal Power, the rest of it.

international Postal Congress, which is assemblé à Paris, has an interesting history. It began its first session of October, 1874, at Berne, with the United States, Egypt, and Asiatic

Turkey, their aggregate population 600,000. At the second meeting

CRIMINAL NEWS.

Further Testimony in the Vosburgh Wife-Poisoning Case.

Eleven of the Coal Creek Militia Held for Murder.

Belief that the Garrity Brothers Will Jump Their Ball.

The Murderer Fare Killed by a Convict in the Missouri Prison.

VOSBURGH, THE WIFE-POISONER.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

New York, May 17.—Amelia Spadone, a Trustee of the Mrs. Vosburgh's church, testified to-day that, during a conversation about the charges of poisoning, Vosburgh said he would sooner believe Jim Slickes had done the poisoning, as he was penurious, and would get more of his father's property if his sister were out of the way. Regarding his wife, Vosburgh said she had led him a very unhappy life.

Mr. Spadone further testified that at first he communicated the suspicions to Vosburgh, he seemed surprised, and then cried, "I am not my own master." Major Slickes had in hand a bill about the church, and his sister, and his mother.

At this testimony Vosburgh in his mother bailed him out, and his mother bailed him out, and then spoke of reparation, yet unable to tell the truth. They made a big grab at the proslavery clauses, to whom they had, depredated notes, and from whom paid in artificially dear that dishonest, rapacious, ungodly was defeated; hence the grosses and the disappointed Shylocks.

There is no shenanigan in this investigation business. Democratic election frauds in Mississippi, and Tilden's bribery in Oregon, must be included. If the Democrats resist because they fear being covered with disgrace, they had better let their branch of the investigation drop.

The Orangeemen of Montreal have resolved to add another chapter to their history with will in solemn procession. The Coronation will be held in hand and about the church, and her sister, and his mother.

At this testimony Vosburgh in his mother bailed him out, and his mother bailed him out, and then spoke of reparation, yet unable to tell the truth. They made a big grab at the proslavery clauses, to whom they had, depredated notes, and from whom paid in artificially dear that dishonest, rapacious, ungodly was defeated; hence the grosses and the disappointed Shylocks.

The composition of the Republican Congressmen is to an investigation of alleged Florida election frauds, but to a one-sided investigation which runs out Democratic bribery in Oregon and Democratic bulldozing in Mississippi.

The newly-elected Ministers of Quebec, having pledged to a policy of economy, begin by cutting down their own salaries, as instances of official virtue so rare as to be worth recording.

On all fours; a lead that had carbonized. In another case, it was a leaden hand, the master used to lead his line into Spain where an eligible. There are schools kept in wine-stations, dancing-rooms, under a shroud, a lead held there for a kitchen. In one case the school-life was never seen in the sole apartment and dwelling; in another occupied part of the apartment, grandiose nation wonders why Germany.

It is well remarked that "By refusing to allow a thorough investigation, the Democrats simply say: We confess to fraud on our side, but we hope to balance it with fraud on yours."

The election fraud investigations must embrace the Democratics as well as the Republicans, and the juries will answer the purpose.

Have Democratic ballot-box stuffers, bribers, and intimidators special privileges or vested rights which exempt them from being investigated?

The investigation game must be played fair.

PERSONALS.

Signor Minghetta's book on "Stata and Chiesa" has been placed in the Roman Catholic

Mr. Moody, having some moments to spare leaving New Haven, exhorted the hackmen in the city, without leading any of them astray.

How many times has the dear Glover shouted "Stand from under?"

and a Democrat home limping? And parties have gone out with "Stand from under?"

now to come skurrying back into camp again?" hunting them. No party ever had such unconsciously bad them into camp. Bear-hunters are in regularly just ahead of the bear.

such popular heart is being fired worse now that it begins to look as if a portion of the Eastern question might catch up with it. "Hearts of Oak" and "The British Army," "The British Army," and "India" are the latest additions to useful literature, with a remarkable horn which has, at least, one thing to—it is likely to drive to oblivion equally idiotic "We Don't Want to This production, which is almost bad for $200 a line if it were signed.

TENNYSON's poem follows:

"My Master My Man,"

for her baritic degrad;

going, her jingle along,

and be link'd to a "hairy chine."

and delight in trick and chican,

arrogance rule by the knout,

and come,

better to govern without,

better to govern without.

world's what parrot a wife,

and the parrot there be;

Chinese may wed as they please,

hypocrite Russia for me—

the Russian for my—

the Duchess of EDINBURG.

Democrats have undertaken the role of

the side of the fraud business shall be

they about in chairs. Tilden's

to buy an Elector in Oregon must not

into. The frauds and violence per-

in Mississippi, whereby the

of 25,000 was wiped out and had

no Democratic frauds or malfeas-

tions touched. Does not know suppose

we will stand this one-sided sort of

be unable to "Reduce the Army to

50,000" the has come out without

"Abolish the Navy." Another

other now called contemporary

"Shoot the Custom-House!"

to the Fourth-Auditor's Office?" To

the Supervisors of Steamboats"

the Marine Band!" "Cusa the Depart-

and so on.

GARFIELD moved an amendment

to his resolution to include all the frauds

without regard to party,—mean-

and Mississipp.—Forrester jumped

at the top of his voice:

We want to investigate Republican Demagogues. What

wants to be done enough as they

the air of the atmosphere?" Great

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Moderate Demand for Discounts at the Chicago Banks.

Mining Notes—The Proposed New Contract of the Syndicate.

The Produce Markets Easier on Change, and Weak in the Afternoon.

Peace News Depresses Prices—not Much Activity, Except in Corn for Shipment.

FINANCIAL.

The applications for discounts and the extension of credits at the banks were quiet. The tendency of discount lines is now downward, while deposits are increasing. County redemptions are not asked for to any extent. The market of currency is weak. The discounts from banks are larger than orders, and there have been some shipments of currency to New York. Rates of discount at the banks are 6 1/2 per cent. New York exchange was sold between banks at 6 1/2 per cent premium, and the offerings were made liberal.

MINING NOTES.

A new vein of great richness has been struck by the Silver Islet Mining Company. A recent assay of ore from the mine produced $40,000 of bullion from two carloads of ore. The new vein is on the surface, and not under water, as was the one previously worked.

Deep explorations are now being conducted in the Savage, Gould & Curry, Hale & Norcross, and other mineral deposits, also in the Cimarron lead. There are intimations of the early discovery and development of a valuable ore body along the east line of the Colorado lead. One man in Colorado received an amount of $30,000 worth of mineral from the Bonanza mines. Inquiry among the Chicago brokers discloses the fact that no general interest is taken in this market in their securities. The public is afraid of them. The following gives the value of the production of the mines in San Joaquin County, Nev., on May 1, this year and last. The shares of these mines are the most largely dealt in on the San Francisco Stock Exchange.

	May 1, 1877.	May 1, 1876.
U. S. Gold	$ 187,700	$ 187,700
Sierra Nevada	252,000	354,000
Other Min.	1,000	1,000
Mexican	554,400	444,200
Other Min.	15,120,000	13,825,000
Consolidated Virginia	15,120,000	15,120,000
Gould & Curry	645,000	645,000
Hale & Norcross	1,000	1,000
State & Northern	128,000	128,000
Jolla Consolidated	41,300	41,300
Other Min.	200,000	200,000
Consolidated Imperial Consol.	250,000	250,000
Consolidated Virginia	87,400	87,400
Kent & Co.	73,000	73,000
Reider	304,000	304,000
Overman	941,500	941,500
Other Min.	1,000	1,000
Total	$37,324,800	$36,201,000

The fluctuations in the value of these mines in the last 12 months, just before the discovery of the Crown Point Bonanza, the aggregate value of the shares was only $5,000,000. In January, 1875, the same mines were selling on a valuation of $97,000,000. In two or three years afterwards the value had increased to $70,000,000, or $100, at which figure they stood at the beginning of 1877. Not less remarkable was the rise immediately after this date. By the middle of the year the stocks had risen to a higher point than they have been since. Only the miners in the West paid dividends during 1876. The balance between the dividend-paying and the assessment-collecting mines is: Dividends by Consolidated Virginia and California, $25,000,000; and the assessment-mines, $10,000,000, leaving an excess of $15,000,000.

The Idaho Mine, of Grass Valley, has paid 104 regular dividends, aggregating $5,300,000.

The Gold Hill Mine says: It has been found expedient to shut down the old Yellow Jacket works in the valley of the South Fork. The connection recently made at the 2,000 level with the Crown Point is being put in good order for sending out the rock debris from the Yellow Jacket workings and explorations beyond that point, and assessments are also being made to send the water out through it to the Crown Point and Del Norte drain shaft.

THE DEMAND FOR BONDS.

Government bonds are still in good request, though not so much as they have been. The stockholders are not much interested in buying for a savings investment. The New York Journal of Commerce notes a report on the street that the Syndicate are negotiating with the Treasury for a loan of $100,000,000, and bonds for that amount for 4 per cent. Bonds after that agreement for 5 1/2 per cent. The bondholders do not favor such an arrangement. It says:

The 4s are now readily selling without the aid of a syndicate, and a contract with these bankers would be a sufficient guarantee of the full commission of 1/2 per cent instead of the 1/4 per cent now given. Refunding the 4s is going on at the present time, and the market of the bonds is rather enough, and there is no good reason why it should not be done by making a contract with the Syndicate for 5 1/2 per cent.

FOR THE PROTECTION OF STOCKHOLDERS.

A stringent law was passed by the Legislature of California at its last session, to protect the public and stockholders of mining companies against frauds and abuses. The bill, which is a copy of a bill introduced in the State Senate, provides for a penalty of $500 imposed on any officer, or any one pretending to be an officer, who for a compensation or private interest, makes or causes to make any statement, or representation of exorbitant value. The application of the law is limited to corporations whose stocks are regularly sold in the stock market of the State.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

The London Bank of England has issued a circular to advise its rate of discount and a precautionary measure. The Economist admits that there is nothing in the condition of the money market to warrant an advance by the bank.

THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

A recent letter from South America states that the finances of the Argentine Republic are much depressed. Trade and industry in circulation is worth only five cents on the dollar.

CORN AND GREENBACKS.

Corn and silver dollars are 100¢@100¢ in greenbacks.

Greenbacks were 90¢@90¢ in gold.

FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

The rates current in New York and Chicago were:

	Sixty days.	One month.
Spain	90¢@90¢	90¢@90¢
France	91¢@91¢	91¢@91¢
Germany	91¢@91¢	91¢@91¢
Austria	90¢@90¢	90¢@90¢
Norway	72¢@72¢	72¢@72¢
Denmark	70¢@70¢	70¢@70¢

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

United States 3 1/2% 1877, $1,000.

United States 3 1/2% 1877, $1,000.

United States 3 1/2% 1878, $1,000.

United States 4 1/2% 1878, $1,000.

United States 5% 1878, $1,000.

THE HOME.

THE GIFT OF SONG.

O Heaven! it is the gift of song,
I sing so sweetly in the world's ear
That it would pause enraptured, still and long,
And lean to catch its every note so clear.

Sweet as a nightingale I sing of love,
And like a lark I mount on joyous wings,
And lost, a singing songster, high above
The carnal influence of terrestrial things.

I sing so sweetly of the Heavenly Land
That suns would forsake the downward way,
And raise to reach the Savior's helping hand,
As on their bended knees they knelt to pray.

O, if I had a home never leaving before—
I sing as man has never sung before—
So sweet and crystal-clear, the worldy throng
Would dream it music from the Golden Shores.

"SIXX" BURAKES.

NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS.

The editor is very sorry to be compelled to postpone the letters of Annie M. Barnette and Uva Voss still another week. Both have music to put in type, and cannot be spared from us in Chicago, and can do nothing else. The various reasons which make it impossible to get to ready this issue, both communications shall be given next week.

Mrs. M. W. C. cannot send you the address of any contributor without that person's consent. Write to the lady care of this department, and your letter will be forwarded to her.

LITTLE LAMBIE.—It would not be proper to publish the item in the Home on any terms. The other case to which you refer is one of deserved charity.

A. G.—Your letter to the lady will be forwarded if sent "Care Home." It is not allowable to give names of contributors.

DISTRESSED DRAKES.—Your letter was written on both sides of the paper; therefore it has been thrown away.

GEOLO.—Your letter has been sent to Florence having the disabled horse.

Mrs. J. F. S.—Have sent your letter to Florence for her to answer.

THE LETTER-BOX.

There are letters in this office for the following-named contributors. Those intended for persons living out of the city will be forwarded by mail except those addressed to the Home. Letters can be sent to Room 502 Fairbanks Building and get their letters:

Alcohol (8),
Jennie Wren,
D. L. May,
Annie Bell,
Alice Phil.,
Mrs. G.,
M. H. Thorpe,
Suffering Addie (3),
W. H. B.,
L. T. (3),
Lila.

In addition to the above list of letters there are a number of postal-cards at hand for contributors. The letters have generally been accompanied with stamps, but where they have not, the postage will be paid by the contributor. The card on the envelope, and a request to forward them should be accompanied by one. Following is the list of postal-cards:

Wallower,
Mari,
Bluestell.
Suffering Addie,

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.

FROM AUNT LUCE, CHICAGO.—As one of the warmest admirers of The Home from the start, I have always regretted the generally slight order of evidence which the consumption of the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and should be sorry to detract from the value of the article by offering embodied or ill-considered advice, especially according to the testimony of Nathalie, is what I have done. I do not, indeed, much object to the article to appear in the Home, but I am sorry to find that it inferred that I am lacking in good judgment as to what you would wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

BUT the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption? Some of the statements of this writer would seem to indicate that it is not recognized as disease, proof that that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of disproof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

There are persons who seem to have the pen of a ready writer with them, and yet but to themselves, and when I have seen them fall into words, and drop with falsehood speedily, but to those not so bold writing is a task, and thinking is a task.

I have a large store of sympathy for school-girls, especially when preening the last great intelligence and standing of a scholar is judged by the merit of element of essay. Yet many a school-girl has been taught that regarding tubercle, as would be appropriate in the treatment of inflamed mucous linings in other parts of the body.

ESSAYS.

FROM AUNT LUCE, CHICAGO.—Country School-Marm's own Saturday reminds me of my negligence. I had intended giving Princesses some ideas in regard to her essay. I hope it is not too late.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

Some of the statements of this writer would seem to indicate that it is not recognized as disease, proof that that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

There are persons who seem to have the pen of a ready writer with them, and yet but to themselves, and when I have seen them fall into words, and drop with falsehood speedily, but to those not so bold writing is a task, and thinking is a task.

I have a large store of sympathy for school-girls, especially when preening the last great intelligence and standing of a scholar is judged by the merit of element of essay. Yet many a school-girl has been taught that regarding tubercle, as would be appropriate in the treatment of inflamed mucous linings in other parts of the body.

ESSAYS.

FROM AUNT LUCE, CHICAGO.—Country School-Marm's own Saturday reminds me of my negligence. I had intended giving Princesses some ideas in regard to her essay. I hope it is not too late.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

Some of the statements of this writer would seem to indicate that it is not recognized as disease, proof that that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

There are persons who seem to have the pen of a ready writer with them, and yet but to themselves, and when I have seen them fall into words, and drop with falsehood speedily, but to those not so bold writing is a task, and thinking is a task.

I have a large store of sympathy for school-girls, especially when preening the last great intelligence and standing of a scholar is judged by the merit of element of essay. Yet many a school-girl has been taught that regarding tubercle, as would be appropriate in the treatment of inflamed mucous linings in other parts of the body.

ESSAYS.

FROM AUNT LUCE, CHICAGO.—Country School-Marm's own Saturday reminds me of my negligence. I had intended giving Princesses some ideas in regard to her essay. I hope it is not too late.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

Some of the statements of this writer would seem to indicate that it is not recognized as disease, proof that that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the lungs and pulmonary diseases, and it is most convenient to changeably to designate that special form of lung disease, which is peculiar to the human species, and not what pertains to masters of life and death.

Of course I am not going to write to you, for that you would not wish, but I was a school-girl, some years ago,—and since that had daughters that were school-girls also; and what mother is there but has lived over and over again school-girls' perplexities, and, and, and, I may even bring-sins, in her children's experience.

But the question of interest to others than myself, is, Where lies the truth respecting the origin of that scourge of two zones—pulmonary consumption?

For example, nothing is more susceptible of dis-

proof than that pathologists recognize no difference between the

